

W. P. WALTON.

AFTER a careful survey of the field and after receiving warm assurances of support from leading citizens all over the State, Hon. Richard C. Warren has concluded to accept the suggestion of the INTERIOR JOURNAL, which spoke for the democracy of Lincoln county, and become a candidate for auditor, so we today present by authority his name to the democracy of Kentucky for that high and honorable office. It is with more than usual pride and pleasure that we do this, for Mr. Warren is the embodiment of everything requisite to a strong and dashing canvasser and the faithful discharge of the duties of the office, which by nature and training he is so competent to fill. We need new and younger blood in the responsible office of auditor and in presenting Mr. Warren for the position we do so with an absolute confidence that his honesty, purity and uprightness are beyond cavil or question. His nomination will be a compliment to the young and progressive democracy of the State and his election a fitting reward to a man who has demonstrated that he is always faithful to every trust imposed in him. Nominate him and elect him and the democracy of Lincoln, which has rarely asked favors of the party, will give an absolute guarantee that no act of his will ever bring discredit or reproach upon the good name of the State.

The election bill, otherwise known as the Force bill, which the republicans have determined shall become a law, is the most odious of the long line of odious measures that a desperate party has foisted on the country. Its object is to put the election of congressmen in the hands of republicans, who will count their candidates in without regard to right or justice. The expense to the government of such a law is estimated at $16,000,000 a year, there being no proposal to accomplish with the public funds what they have heretofore tried to accomplish with fat fried out of those pecuniarily interested in the perpetuation of that party in power. The plan is now for Reed to force the bill through the House, which he can very easily do, then have Vice President Morton to take a trip, put Ingalls in the chair of the Senate, who will adopt Reed's revolutionary tactics and with the aid of his lieutenants push the bill through the higher House. Harrison's little signature will complete the damnable work. It is a desperate game but desperate chances must be taken to retain the power which fat and blocks of five accomplished.

ERLOGUES of the late Samuel J. Randall were delivered in Congress Saturday by a number of members, including Col. Breckinridge and Gov. McCreary. Both spoke in highest terms of his spotless character as a citizen and his eminent career as a statesman. Gov. McCreary spoke of their personal relations, which were of a nature that enabled them to know each other well. For one term the seats of the two gentlemen were located together, and when Mr. Randall found that he could not attend the sessions of this Congress last winter he sent Gov. McCreary a kind note, telling him to feel at liberty to use his (Randall's) seat, one of the most desirable in the hall. After Mr. Randall's death Gov. McCreary fell heir to his desk and chair, which he now occupies.

The Lexington convention to nominate a candidate for superior judge, finding that it was impossible to effect the object of its meeting, adjourned sine die, after taking 124 ballots, the last not materially changed from the first. A resolution was adopted referring the selection of a nominee to the district committee, who was given power either to re-submit the matter to a new convention or call a primary election. These bitter contests, especially for a judicial office, bode no good to the party and are to be seriously regretted.

The scandal in connection with the pension bureau, which it is proposed to investigate, grew out of a real estate scheme, to promote which Commissioner Ramin is said to have borrowed $25,000 from Pension Agent Lemon and induced his subordinates to take stock in it on a promise of promotion. There is a great deal of rottenness connected with the pension bureau and many a claim is allowed more for the benefit of the agent than for the justness of the cause.

SENATORS STEWART, of Nevada, and Reagan, of Texas, 70 and 75 years of age respectively, had a quarrel in the Marble-room of the Senate, Friday, during which the Nevada man called the ex-Confederate post-master general a liar. No sooner had he said it than the latter let go his good right fist at his antagonist, but somebody caught his arm and the venerable old chestnuts were led off in opposite directions.

The party in power is squandering the public money with a lavish hand. The 14 regular appropriation bills call for $300,000,000, which is $35,000,000 more than last year. A reckoning day must come to the bold bandits who prey so recklessly on the national treasury.

Is or ler to protect the financial honor of the State and to the end that none of its creditors may suffer, Gov. Buckner has placed at the disposal of the Sinking Fund Commissioners about $50,000 of his private fortune to tide it over its present financial strait. There will be but little money available before the taxes begin to come in in August and it was announced last week that all the funds had been exhausted. No money can be borrowed by law, but the governor is willing to take the risk of getting back any sum he may advance. There are not many men that would do it, but then there are not many men like the man who at present honors Kentucky as her chief executive. And, by the way, he is going to be a delegate to the constitutional convention, Hart county having chosen him the democratic nominee Saturday by a large majority over the young man who opposed him.

The libel suit brought by a lawyer named Vance in Louisville against the Courier-Journal for charges reflecting on his official integrity, was decided in favor of the paper, which established to the satisfaction of the jury that what it charged was fully corroborated by the proof. There is rarely anything gained by libel suits, the majority of which are instituted for black-mailing purposes. No paper with any regard for its standing would knowingly publish anything derogatory of a man's character, unless it was satisfied that what it claimed was susceptible of proof, and no decent paper would refuse to make full reparation and apology if convinced that a wrong had been done. Libel suits are therefore useless, except in some instances to extort money, unless as in Mr. Vance's case, a man wants his meanness proved on him.

The Court of Appeals rendered a decision Saturday that will be regarded with approval by the general public. It has always held that a telegraph company is liable for damages done by its failure to deliver promptly messages in which pecuniary interests are involved, and now it decides that such companies are liable for injury to the feelings. The decision was in a case in which the Western Union failed to deliver two messages regarding the illness and death of the plaintiff's father.

A New York man, captivated by the manner in which a pretty female census enumerator asked the questions required by law, fell in love with her, proposed and the marriage has taken place, all since the 1st of June. If they will now go to raising a family with the expedition that that they have prepared for it, the census of 2000 will be materially increased.

The committee in the Lexington district has called another convention for July 9th, in that city, to make another attempt to nominate a candidate for superior judge, and fixed June 28th for the primaries. It is to be hoped that the latter will send men next time who think more of party success than of individual interests.

As but 14 census enumerators have resigned, four have committed suicide, one only has killed his man, and one married, an exchange is led to remark that matters seem to be progressing more smoothly than was anticipated.

—The Maine republican State convention renominated Gov. Burleigh by acclamation. The platform commends the administration of President Harrison as "wise, firm and upright," and says that "Speaker Reed has, by the courageous discharge of his duty, done honor to the State and a great public service to the country."

—Since he has taken charge of the pension office Dr. C. J. Walton has paid out $1,121,345.15. This is at the rate of $8,831.06 for every day including Sunday, and $3,233,333.25 per year. The daily increase will doubtless bring this amount up to $3,500,000 or $4,000,000 per year within a short time.

—Mrs. Griggs, of Philadelphia, aged 29, had contracted a bad habit of using Jamaica ginger in excessive doses. Her husband remonstrated, and so, as the record runs, she took a dose of laudanum, "just to tantalize him." The dose was too much for her, and the husband now wears crape upon his shiny hat.

—A terrific thunder storm swept over Cincinnati shortly after noon Sunday. In less than an hour an inch and a half of rain fell. One man was swept into a sewer and drowned. Over 3,000 telegraph wires were melted or otherwise ruined by the lightning. A similar storm visited Louisville, even more rain falling there than in Cincinnati.

—Half a million dollars' worth of property was destroyed in the vicinity of Rockford, Ill., Friday night, by a local flood caused by heavy rains. A portion of the town itself was suddenly inundated, and many people were driven from their homes by water, which rose into the first stories of residences. Much railroad track was washed away.

ON account of the rain the game between the INTERIOR JOURNAL and the Centre College nine, Friday afternoon, on the latter's grounds, was called at the end of the 2d inning, with our boys two to their opponents' nothing. Al Severance pitched and George Penny caught for the I. J. and demonstrated that we are going to have a good battery. There were no special features, save that Joe Barton distinguished himself by taking in a very long fly.

Three examining trials of Engineer Meads, Fireman Harry Geer and three other train men for shooting and wounding Section Boss Cummings, an account of which we gave at the time, was held before a magistrate at Barboursville Saturday, when each was held in $1,000 bail to the circuit court. Prof. W. F. McClary, a witness in the case, says that those who heard the evidence were satisfied that the men should have been acquitted, and several volunteered to go their bail.

A NUMBER of ours were wrecked on freight train 34 at Pittsburg Friday night. The train had been cut in two in order to set some cars on the side track. The grade is very heavy there and the cars left standing got loose in some way and crashed down into the others. Nobody was hurt, but a good many feelings were lacerated by the long and vexatious delay of the express. Mr. W. C. Sala, master of trains, went up and spent the night in clearing the wreck, his first trip since he was so badly injured.

CLOSE CALLS.—During the terrific rain and hail storm of Friday evening the whole town was startled about 7 o'clock by a blinding flash of lightning, followed instantly by a report which seemed to burst the very ear drums. In a few moments the report was flying that Miss Mollie, daughter of Mr. J. R. Hales, had been struck and killed. Investigation showed it to be untrue, but she had one of the closest calls imaginable. She was sitting reading in an upper room, when lightning struck the porch within six feet of her, tearing one of the posts out and burying itself in the ground. She was thrown from her chair and rendered insensible, but after much labor by her parents she was restored and in a few hours was nearly all right again, though she felt for a long time like hundreds of needles were piercing her flesh.

One gold and silver taken in exchange for goods. Full value allowed. Robert Fenzel.

COME now and take a cottage at Hale's Well while they are $2.50 a week. They will be higher after July 1. A. L. Spoonamore.

STRAYED.—A red sow, thin in flesh, just weaned pigs, hair worn off her sides, three rings in nose, undelivered right ear. Information as to her whereabouts will be appreciated. H. J. McRoberts.

A VERY heavy rain and hail storm visited this section Friday afternoon, but did no material damage. Some of the hail is said to have been as large as a quinea egg. It rained again Sunday evening after the hottest kind of weather that day and the day before.

OUR young friend, Mr. Charles R. Brock, who recently graduated with distinction at the State College will have charge of the Laurel Summary next session and will be assisted by Mr. J. A. Yates. The patrons of the school may rest assured that it has never been in better hands.

The Superior Court has adjourned for the summer. Among its last acts was to reverse the decision of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the case of Boone vs. Connelly. As to make an excuse for quitting so soon in the season, the court gives out that it has disposed of 200 cases during the eight years of its existence.

DRYING.—John Berry, whose people live in the Highland neighborhood, was drowned near Labanks, Saturday. Mr. Jim Carter tells us that Berry and others went into the railroad pond to bathe, when he got into water over his head, and being unable to swim, was drowned. He was about 20 years of age.

ROBBERY.—Oscar Smith, of Lebanon, traveling for Frank Bros., Philadelphia, claims that he was robbed at a Mt. Vernon hotel the other night by a well-known young man of town, who asked to occupy the same room with him. The amount stolen is stated at $100 in cash, $42.50 in checks and $300 in notes. We withhold names on account of the good standing of the young man's family until the matter is investigated.

DECLINES THE HONOR.—As we surprised Mr. J. M. McRoberts, Jr., is too sensible a man to accept the nomination for county judge by the prohibitionists, even if the acceptance meant an election, which it does not by any manner of means. Modest and unassuming he never sought political preferment from the party to which he gave aid and comfort for the best years of his life, and he is not disposed now to oppose by his candidacy a man, who has been his friend from earliest youth. But we will let Mr. McRoberts speak for himself. His card of declination appears elsewhere in this issue.
